

To whom it may concern,

Tiger Airways have commissioned Permagard Aviation to assist our airline on multiple projects over the last two years and have found them to be responsive and flexible to our requirements at all times.

The level of capability and skill provided by the Permagard Aviation teams in multiple locations across key airport hubs in Australia allows us to plan the services we need in an effective and cost efficient manner which is critical to our business.

We continue to work with the Permagard Group in ensuring our fleet of aircraft are presented in the best possible manner and we would confidently recommend Permagard services and solutions to any similar companies within the commercial aviation market.

Yours Sincerely,
